

Why We Plant Trees

Photo by Brian Black

Planting trees is the simplest way to make a difference now and for generations to come. Aside from occasional watering, once planted, trees do their magic by themselves. Every time we pass the trees we helped plant, we feel better, stand taller, and smile. We know that for the next 100 years, those trees will make a difference!

Chris Buchheit, Erika Johnson, James Wasden
Urban Forestry Commissioners, City of Vancouver

Each year trees in the Portland-Vancouver metro area keep half a billion gallons of rain water from making combined sewer overflows into our rivers and remove millions of pounds of pollutants from our air. Our volunteers plant thousands of trees every year to make this possible.

Since Friends of Trees was founded in 1989, we have planted over 360,000 trees.

We need your help. Friends of Trees is only successful because of our volunteers and supporters

Join us!

www.FriendsofTrees.org

3117 NE ML King Jr. Blvd.
Portland, OR 97212
503-282-8846

Friends of Trees
Growing Healthy Communities